Warsaw Falls to Red Army

British Advance

Yanks Capture Transport Hub

PARIS, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—American First Army troops captured Vielsalm, road hub nine miles west of St. Vith and seven miles south of Stavelot on the northwestern arc of the flattened Ardennes salient.

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Bayonet-wielding Britons of the 2nd Army drove today into the Netherlands village of Dieteren, between the Maa (Meuse) and Roer rivers 23 miles north of Aachen, in advances up to 1,000 yards in a resumption of Gen. Eisenhower's winter offensive.

The rested troops crossed the little Roer river at two places and pushed steadily on over glassy roads and snow-drifted farmlands on the fringe of Germany. The attack was aimed at straightening the Allied line to the upper Roer, whose west bank is held by the U.S. 9th Army from Linlich to Schmidt.

The U.S. 1st Army, further reducing the Belgian bulge, drove to within five miles of St. Vith, last major road centre which the Germans held in the salient.

Inside Germany to the south, an undisclosed number of enemy troops were trapped near captured Butzorf by U.S. 3rd Army tanks.

The British forces progressed in an icy ground haze.

The attack, started with a massive artillery barrage—Field Mar-

Russians Plunge West Within 15 Miles of Silesian Frontier

LONDON, Jan. 17.—(CP)—Czestochowa, Polish shrine city 15 miles from Germany's Silesian border, has been captured by Russian forces, Premier Stalin announced tonight in a third order of the day. At Czestochowa, one of the first Polish cities announced as captured by the German high command in 1939, the Russians were 260 miles from Berlin.

By BRUCE MUNN

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—Warsaw fell today to the greatest Russian offensive of the war in which three mighty Red armies had wrecked a 250-mile German defence belt entirely across Poland and hurled a spearhead westward within 15 miles of the Silesian border.

Premier Stalin announced the capture of Warsaw on the sixth day of the epic Russian drive while rampaging Soviet task forces raced over the Polish plains at a pace promising the complete liberation of the country soon.

The Lublin radio, first to report the occupation of Warsaw, later said the speeding Russian mobile forces had overrun the old Polish capital of Krakow and were plunging on toward the rich industrial regions of German Silesia.

As Other Firms

Senator Urges

Full Taxation

Co-Operatives

VANCOUVER, Jan. 17.—(CP)—

Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C.,

contended before the Royal Commission on Taxation of Co-operatives yesterday that "alleged"

co-operatives should be taxed to the full extent that a competing

non-co-operative company is taxed.

Senator Farris, representing

seven independent dairies, said

"true" co-operatives should continue to have tax exemption but suggested legislation should be amended to define such "true"

co-operatives and thus limit exemption.

It was the first submission from private or independent firms since the commission under Mr. Justice

Errol M. McDougall of Montreal

began its public hearings here

Monday to investigate the question of application of income and profits

tax measures on co-operatives.

Senator Farris argued present

exemption of co-operatives is against public interest because it

results in loss of government

revenue, it creates a sense of injustice among the public, it leads to the danger of monopoly and it does not give the government

power to apply necessary wartime economic control.

He claimed that present application of the income and excess profits taxes to co-operatives discrim-

Alberta Airmen

On Heavy Raids

LONDON, Jan. 17.—(CP)—RCAF

Hallifaxes of the Goose, Bison, Al-

ouette, Snowy Owl squadrons flew

with the RAF to attack the industrial and railway centre of Magde-

burg early today while a Ghost

Squadron Lancasters struck at a synthetic oil plant at Zeitz, near

Leipzig, the RCAF reported. Scores of Canadians also flew in RAF

squadrons on the Magdeburg raid.

Both raids were termed "successful" and returning airmen

said Magdeburg was left a mass of flames. Many combats with enemy fighters took place.

Flt. Sgt. R. L. Siewert of Wren-

tham, Alta., a Ghost Squadron rear-

gunner, told how he opened fire

on a Messerschmitt 210 and watched the German plane burst into flames, hit the ground and exploded. He saw a parachute open before the plane crashed.

FO. P. D. Mitchell of Lloydmin-

ster, Sask., a Ghost Squadron rear

gunner, drove off a twin-engine

Messerschmitt with a long fusilade and claimed it was "damaged." The plane crashed.

The Vancouver Province said today that Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor, Ottawa, said over the telephone that it was probable that the strike would end very shortly. It added that it was believed in Ottawa that if the scheme

is accepted by union vote, the government will accept it, and that it will be put into effect "whether or not the company agrees to its terms."

swept through the main warehouse

building at the Barrfield military

camp, housing quartermaster's

Reds Sweeping Westward Warsaw Falls to Russian Army

Stalin's order revealed that Rokossovsky had taken over command of the Second White Russian Army after being relieved by Marshal Gregory Zhukov of the command of the First White Russian Army, which flanked and captured Warsaw. The two armies now were fighting flank to flank, while below Zhukov's forces was the First Ukrainian Army under Marshal Ivan S. Konev, the first to strike in the winter offensive.

The announcement of Warsaw's liberation came as a flood of nervous Nazi broadcasts reported that the Russians had plunged within 15 miles of the Silesian frontier at Czechoslovakia, had shattered the narrow river line of German defences northeast of Warsaw, and were racing at top speed across central Poland.

DEFENCES COLLAPSE

The entire German defence system in Poland appeared to have collapsed under the weight of probably the mightiest single land offensive of the entire war, and Stockholm relayed Berlin hints that the Nazis had written off all of Poland.

Stalin, announcing the capture of Warsaw on the sixth day of the winter campaign, ordered Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's forces saluted with 24 salvos of Moscow's 324 victory guns.

Zhukov, Stalin's deputy in the Soviet supreme command, set up Warsaw for a three-way assault by a double flanking manoeuvre.

The capture of Warsaw first was announced by the Lublin radio.

BERLIN "ADMISSION"

After the Moscow announcement on Warsaw, the Berlin radio said the city had been evacuated "according to plan."

A Nazi communiqué said 40 Russian infantry divisions and several tank corps—half a million men by conservative estimate—had broken "deep breaches" in the defences north of Warsaw and "through the steadfastness of German soldiers who defended themselves in their positions to their last breath" were checked at Modlin, fortress city 18 miles northwest of Warsaw on the Vistula; Nasielsk, 27 miles northwest of Warsaw; and Ciechanow, 45 miles northwest of Warsaw.

SWEEP ON SILESIA

Southwest of Warsaw, the German command said, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov and Ivan S. Konev, had thrown 90 infantry divisions and 15 tank corps into the massive sweep toward Silesia.

One spearhead reached the area of Czechoslovakia, 15 miles short of the Silesian border and 67 miles northwest of Karkow, the Berlin communiqué said, and a military spokesman indicated the town has been stormed.

The Russians were charging in on Krakow from the northeast, and a Moscow dispatch said they were only 10 miles or less from the city.

SOVIETS BIG PUSH

Although Moscow had given official confirmation to only two of the Soviet offensives blazing along the entire eastern front, Soviet dispatches made it plain that this was the Red Army's big push.

They said the winter offensive was developing with a scope and savagery unparalleled in the war between Russia and Germany—that an all-out campaign to liberate Poland was developing rapidly, and that the Soviets were determined to slug through to the German border as soon as possible, preliminary to the predicted push on Berlin.

The German high command reported that 25 Russian infantry divisions and many tank formations had been hurled into the battle of East Prussia, which was said to be raging all across the easternmost patch of the German homeland.

Between Rominen Heath in the southeast corner of East Prussia and the area of fallen Schlossberg, fortress city in its northeastern corner, the Russians were reported by Berlin to be attacking incessantly with strong air support.

Patrol Skirmishes Only Are Fought On Italian Fronts

ROME, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Sharp skirmishes were fought at several sectors of the Italian front as patrols probed enemy positions in poor visibility caused by snow and rain yesterday but there were no changes in any British 8th or Allied 5th Army forward positions.

South of Fianza an Indian patrol of the 8th Army fought its way through an ambush and liquidated an enemy outpost, killing 10 Germans and capturing an equal number, it was announced.

There was no report of action on the Reno river front near the Adriatic where the 1st Canadian corps last was reported in action.

Alberta Troops See Italo Action

By WILLIAM BOSS

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC, Jan. 17.—(CP)—Sailing by day and night patrolling constitute the main activity along the Canadians' Senior river front as weather continues cold and foggy and a thin coating of ice covers the countryside.

Alberta infantrymen killed two of four Germans who approached Canadian positions Monday night while the other two made for a house along the dike bank. The Albertans were just going to root them out when they heard shouts of "Mein Fuehrer" after which the house blew up.

Elsewhere on the front, troops of a Western Canada permanent force unit killed two Germans and probably killed seven more yesterday while British Columbia Highlanders killed one German.

On one of the Canadians' flanks, 8th Army Indian troops, regaining territory lost to an enemy counter-attack, wounded 10 Germans, whom they captured, and killed 25.

Election Likely If McNaughton Beaten at Polls

business of the country as well as the war effort during the fiscal year starting in April so that a general election might be held any time up to the end of June. A new parliament would meet some time later.

The minimum asked of parliament at such a short session which would necessarily end April 17 when parliament reaches the end of its five-year term, would be passage of a war appropriation bill and non-war estimates for the fiscal year, 1945-46; passage of any supplementary financial appropriations required to meet deficiencies in amounts voted for the present fiscal year and passage of a mutual aid bill to enable material assistance to other United Nations.

It is possible, but not necessary, that the government would present the 1945-46 budget in which would be embodied any tax changes proposed for the coming fiscal year. The budget, however, might be left for the first session of a new parliament after a general election.

APRIL VOTE PROBABLE

In the event of Gen. McNaughton meeting defeat in Grey North it was anticipated there would be no further meeting of the present parliament. The government would fix the general election for the earliest convenient date which, starting Feb. 5, would be early in April, providing war conditions did not make a later date desirable.

Constitutionally the government could finance its operations during the first part of the new fiscal year by appropriating money under governor-general's warrants.

Meantime, political circles here have received varying reports from the election front in Grey North.

SEE EVEN CONTEST

Gossip in Ottawa has it that the contest so far is fairly even as between the three candidates but that both the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives were concerned about the strength being shown by the CCF standard-bearer.

The by-election, in which Defence Minister McNaughton seeks election to the Commons, will be held Feb. 5. Gen. McNaughton is opposed by Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate, and Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, retired RCAF officer and CCF candidate.

Text of the announcement: "After yesterday's meeting of the cabinet, the Prime Minister stated that the present session of parliament would be prorogued as planned, on Wednesday, Jan. 31, but that a new session would not begin on the day immediately following."

"Mr. King said that before deciding upon the time at which the next session of parliament would be held, the government would await developments in the by-election campaign in Grey North."

F.D.R. Promises Aid For Greece

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt yesterday promised the new prime minister of Greece, Nicolas Plastiras, that the United States would "assist wherever practicable in the rehabilitation of your long-suffering nation."

The state department then announced that a little more shipping has been made available for increasing exports of American civilian goods to Greece in the first three months of 1945.

Meantime, plans are being made to obtain more than $1,000,000 worth of critical goods for Allied armies from French and Belgian industry in 1945. The arrangement, which is present in apart from lead, calls for Britain and the United States to supply the bulk of the raw materials for the goods, which include uniforms and tires. The aim is two-fold: to obtain supplies and provide employment in France and Belgium.

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 17.—(CP)—Premier Drew of Ontario yesterday called for an increase in 1945 sugar beet cultivation to the pre-war area of 40,000 acres, and said his government is determined that the price paid growers will not drop below that of last year. In 1944 sugar beet growers received $21.52 per ton, including a $1.53 subsidy from the provincial government, after boosting acreage to 14,500 from 9,000 the previous year.

Navy Minister Arrives in U.K.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—(CP)—Angus L. MacDonald, Canadian navy minister, arrived in London today.

Although his program for the next few days is uncertain, it is understood Mr. MacDonald plans to talk with Admiralty spokesmen regarding Canadian naval participation in the war in the Pacific.

At Ottawa the most likely object for Mr. MacDonald's trip was believed to be the dovetailing of Canadian and Royal Navy plans for the concentration of effort in the Pacific when the war in Europe has reached a decisive stage.

Speculation is that Mr. MacDonald had reached a decision on the matter and was taking that decision to London. The decision is said to envisage close co-operation between British and Canadian squadrons from primary bases in Australia and advance bases in the Philippines, which might be pooled with the United States fleet.

Camillien Houde Fights to Retain Post as Mayor

MONTREAL, Jan. 17.—(CP)—Mayor Camillien Houde began yesterday to fight a superior court action instituted in an attempt to use him as chief magistrate of the city. He was elected Dec. 11.

Summoned by writ six days ago, the mayor appeared in court yesterday to answer a petition for annulment of his election brought by Leo Dore, truck driver, who claims Mr. Houde or his agents used "election practices prohibited by the organic law of the city of Montreal." Yesterday the writ simply was returned and the case now is properly before the court.

REGINA, Jan. 17.—(CP)—Provincial treasurer Flies said today that Federal Finance Minister Isley had telegraphed saying he would be unable to meet the provincial cabinet in Regina to discuss settlement of the $16,486,852 seed grain advances debt.

Mr. Isley was in Winnipeg yesterday and the provincial CCF government suggested he visit Regina to discuss the debt. Floor Prices Act Outlined At UFA Meet

Hog production in western Canada in the first half of 1945 will be 25 per cent below 1944 figures, while in eastern Canada in the same period it will be down ten per cent, Mr. Taggart said. For the last half of 1945, he suggested western hog production would be 20 per cent below 1944 levels, while eastern output would be ten per cent.

The floor price plan for farm produce has found widespread support through Canada, said the Ottawa official. He noted the legislation, when up for debate in the House of Commons, received support in principle of all sides of the House.

"Parliament has in mind not only the prevention of price collapse, but maintaining stable and adequate returns from agriculture," Mr. Taggart declared. He explained the act provides the board with $200,000,000 for administration purposes, which was to be regarded as working capital. It implies the money will be replenished from year to year, as well as stipulating that any profits that bring working capital over the $200,000,000 mark shall be turned over to the Dominion treasury.

The speaker stated the new act specified methods of operation which the board may follow in sustaining farm product prices.

It is allowed to buy and sell farm products which may be designated from time to time with the exception of wheat, which is provided for in different legislation. It is also allowed to pay differential subsidies to farmers, the subsidy being the difference between the price actually received by producers and the price set as "fair."

Probable effects of this floor price control were said by Mr. Taggart to be the establishment of minimum prices for farm produce, stabilized prices on commodities over the whole year, and reduction of long-time price fluctuations. He pointed to experience the country has gained in contracting for sale of surplus goods to Britain, where under these effects have been noted by officials.

INCREASE PRODUCTION

History in the last five years has shown that price stability is more persuasive to increase production than is the possibility of very high prices followed by periods of low prices, the convention was told. "It is evident that farmers prefer moderate and stable prices to possible high and low ones," said the speaker.

He added that any workable scheme must contemplate raising and lowering of floor prices, as at one time or another it will be necessary to lower the price of one commodity and raise the price of another, according to conditions. In addition, the plan to support prices in Canada is and must be based on the prediction that the country can sell all it produces.

If we are to sustain prices of farm products in Canada, we must sustain our export trade generally, to take away our surpluses, to produce and bring back something for that production," said Mr. Taggart.

QUESTION PERIOD

In a question period following his address, Mr. Taggart was asked how the bacon trade prospects stood for the next few years. He answered that sales seem assured until the end of next year. Contracts to Great Britain had been extended until the end of 1946, and the country should be able to export its bacon surpluses until that time.

Minimum commitments to Britain were 450,000,000 pounds of bacon a year, he went on, predicting that 1945 production in this country would exceed that quota. However, British officials had indicated they would take more than the contract calls for, if the product is available.

Air Plan Slowdown May Be Modified

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—(CP)—Air circles here last night discussed the possibility that Air Marshal Robert Leckie, chief of the air staff, asked why the bacon board had not set higher prices for bacon in the summer and lower prices in the winter, Mr. Taggart said this plan had been tried for two years, but public opinion forced a reversal of policy and a level price was instituted instead. He predicted the time would come when fluctuating prices would again be established, rather than the level price.

After the meeting, he explained that while the board was not administering the Floor Price Act, which will not come into effect until proclaimed, it was busy studying and compiling facts regarding the agriculture industry. In the meantime, existing boards such as the meat board are carrying on work which will eventually fall to the prices support board.

Temporary board members are A. M. Snares and J. F. Booth, senior officials of the Dominion department of agriculture. It was explained at the time of their appointment that changes may be made, when the act goes into effect, Mr. Taggart said.

The speaker was introduced to the convention by Robert Gardiner, UFA president.

British Troops Score Advance In Holland Drive

shel Montgomery's military trademark—apparently caught the Germans napping.

The 2nd Army Tommies captured at least one bridge over the Roode intact as they advanced, ghostly in white capes, through a relatively soft spot in German defences. British divisions in the attack had not been engaged in the battle of the Belgian bulge, now reduced to about a fourth its original size.

The little Dutch town of Diesteren is two miles from the German frontier and six north of Sittard. The British appeared to be driving toward the Roer river on the left flank of the U.S. 9th Army which guards its banks from Linlich to Schmidt.

The fog which shrouded the attack of infantry and tanks also slowed the progress of the British, who could hardly see along the assault line. Roads were glazed with ice and sleet this morning kept them slippery. Underneath all were massive German mine fields, planted during three months of lull.

The attack presumably was intended to straighten out a German wedge into Allied lines, it was backed up overnight by intruder air raids on German billeting areas in the towns of Wassenburg and Wegberg just east of the Roer.

SALIENT DRIVEN BACK

To the south, the German salient in the Ardennes was flattened back until nowhere was it more than 15 miles deep. The U.S. 1st Army was battering from the north toward St. Vith, last main road gate back to the Siegfried line. A few German snipers here being hunted down in the ruins of fallen Houffalize.

In the Maginot line battle north of the Haguenau forest, the U.S. 7th Army had withstood three days of an increasingly powerful German attack against the village of Hatten and was slowly beating the enemy back from the town. Three-fourths of it was in Allied hands; some 2,200 Germans with flame-throwing tanks were in the fourth.

The cross-Rhine German stand north of Strasbourg was under two-way attack by Lt. Gen. Patch's troops for the first time. The 7th Army gained a mile and a half of the pocket deep. German reinforcements which built enemy strength to 2,500 men and a dozen tanks.

LINK IN HOUFFALIZE

In the Belgian bulge, the U.S. 1st and 3rd Armies joined in captured Houffalize, 15 miles west of the German frontier. That union sealed from the battlezone British forces which had been mopping up scattered German pockets to the west.

The assault on the north flank finally won Thirionmont and Americans were pushing through drifted snow and rugged country beyond Faymonville into the strongly dug-in German lines guarding St. Vith. First Army vanguards were within five miles of that meeting place of two railroads and seven highways and it was under artillery fire.

who arrived in Britain Monday, may discuss with RAF officials a modification of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan slowdown policy announced Nov. 17. Air circles said it was possible that as a result of war developments in Europe, Britain might desire to discuss this possibility.

Pilots Made Mistake Bombs, Propaganda Leaflets Dealt Malmedy Cruel Blows

By JAMES MCGLINCY

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—A bizarre footnote was added to the tragedy of Malmedy yesterday with the disclosure that the American pilots who mistakenly bombed the city twice in 24 hours also showered the stunned people with propaganda leaflets calling upon them to surrender to the Allies—while American troops still were billeted in their homes.

Only the resourcefulness and tact of a handful of American civil affairs specialists who moved into the town and restored order under fire prevented the panic-stricken Belgians from stampeding and perhaps snarling up the U.S. First Army's road lines at a critical moment in the battle of the Ardennes.

Lt.-Col. Harry P. Cain, an American civil affairs advisor revealed the full story of Malmedy's ordeal and of the civil affairs specialists who saved the situation.

STANDS IN VALLEY

Malmedy stands in a valley on the shoulder of the German bulge, and American planes bombed it on Dec. 23 and again on the 24th in the mistaken belief it was held by the enemy.

After the second bombing and the ironic propaganda barrage, the mayor and most of the town's civil administration fled. The rest of the population, swollen to more than twice its normal size by refugees from the surrounding areas, was on the verge of stampeding when a small civil affairs unit took over.

Fires were raging everywhere, the wounded were crying for help, the dead had been left unburied and the homeless were desperately in need of food and shelter.

"HELL BREAKING LOOSE"

"Hell was breaking loose," Cain said. "The mayor was gone, the doctors were gone or dead and the Belgians were puzzled. The city was without a soul."

Somewhat the unit organized a fire department, obtained food from Liege for 3,800 people, got three doctors, one of them a woman, and evacuated the surplus population into nearby towns.

Cain revealed that several thousand of Malmedy's townspeople fled into nearby coal mines where they were packed so closely that they couldn't lie down or move about, living in darkness without even elementary sanitation facilities.

The doctors managed to get them out in time to prevent an epidemic.

Dairy Farmers Ask Increased Cheese Price

REGINA, Jan. 17.—(CP)—The dairy farmers of Canada in an annual meeting yesterday approved a report of a policy committee asking that the federal butter fat subsidy and the price paid for cheese be increased in 1945 so that domestic and export demands would be met.

Recommendations were:

1—That the cheese price in 1945 be 25 cents a pound, fob factory shipping point, plus premiums now being paid for quality. The basic price now is 20 cents a pound, fob shipping point.

HIGHER SUBSIDY

2—That the present butterfat subsidy of 10 cents a pound paid to encourage butter production be increased to 12 cents a pound at May 1 and continue to Oct. 1 when it would be increased to 15 cents until April 30, 1946, thus encouraging production in the winter months.

3—That the subsidy of 55 cents for 100 pounds on fluid milk be continued throughout the year. The present subsidy drops to 35 cents from May 1 to Sept. 30.

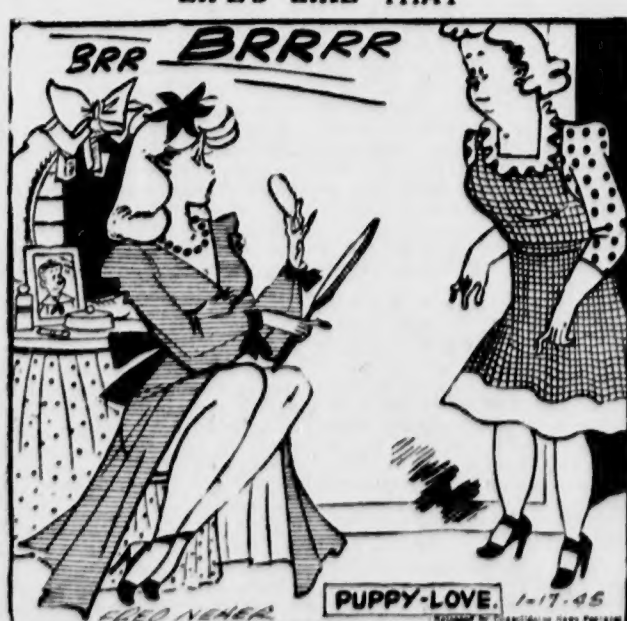

4—That the subsidy of 30 cents for 100 pounds on evaporated milk be made effective throughout the year. The subsidy drops to 15 cents from May 1 to Sept. 30.

5—That the present two-cent consumer subsidy on milk be continued as a permanent policy in the interests of national health.

6—That the need of securing experienced labor for dairy farms continue to be stressed.

The tomato was originally believed to be poisonous and was merely grown as a decorative plant for the garden.

porate activity equally with its competitors. Corporations were in business for the benefit of shareholders, not for the corporations.

The senator argued the only reason why all witnesses for the co-operatives who have appeared before the commission have insisted their outfits are non-profit is because they are tax exempt.

ASK NO FAVORS

The non co-operative dairies ask no favors but only fair treatment, he continued. The co-operatives "should carry their weight, too."

The afternoon session also heard a brief from the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association presented by its president, W. L. Macken. The co-operative was formed after it became apparent producer competition would ruin the industry.

Mr. Macken said, adding the sole purpose for forming the set up was to obtain a maximum return. He admitted under questioning by Mr. Farris that monies which would have been taxable profits of Associated Dairies Ltd., became returns when the latter was absorbed. He also agreed that if the change had not been made, Associated Dairies Ltd., would have been liable in 1944 for about $200,000 in taxes.

Asked why the Associated Dairies Ltd. should pay taxes before its absorption and not now, Mr. Macken said the co-operative had invested a large amount of "cash money" for the former subsidiary. While it was a subsidiary, it was only partially owned by the co-operative.

SOUGHT TO CUT COSTS

Mr. Macken said the co-operative joined Associated originally to obtain a reduction in the cost of distributing milk and later tried to sell its interest. He added he does not think there was anything "morally wrong" in purchasing Associated.

If the nature of co-operative technique tends to block certain channels of government revenue, the duty of the state is to change the incidence of taxation, the co-operatives commission was told earlier.

L. H. C. Phillips, manager of the Wholesale Society of British Columbia, made this suggestion as he outlined operations of the society. Agreeing with E. T. Parker of Halifax, commission counsel, that co-operatives tend to supplant "private profit-making" enterprises, Mr. Phillips said co-operatives were not "robbing" the state and the state could replace revenue sources lost by increase in co-operatives by placing levies elsewhere.

Mr. Phillips added that he comes from a country where there once was slavery and a "head" tax. Later the tax was eliminated. The state had obtained necessary revenue by taxing other sources. That was a change in the incidence of taxation.

REPLACE LOST REVENUE

The state could replace revenue lost through increase in co-operatives by raising income taxes and customs levies. The tax burden should rest on an individual rather than an organization, Mr. Phillips added, as ultimately the individual pays all taxes either directly or indirectly.

Questioned by J. J. Vaughan of Toronto, the society manager replied he does not believe co-operatives should be taxed as that would not be "democracy," adding there is a "greater measure of democracy in co-operatives."

Mr. Phillips, told the commission that if it was possible he would substitute "surplus" wherever "profit" appears in the provincial act under which the society is incorporated. Asked to define profits, Mr. Phillips said they are earnings over and above costs and "retained" by the company. Surplus was funds over and above costs and which are returned to the persons who originally supplied the money for transactions.

He said he regards as essential for operation of the society such surplus monies held in the names of members as deferred dividends. Share capital funds also are used to cover operational expenses. So far the society had not borrowed from banks "but we could." The advantage the society has in being a member of the B.C. Co-operative Union is in helping to promote the co-operative movement. The same reason prompted,

Reveal Fantastic Enemy Plan Jap "Suicide Boats" Prove Flop

By RALPH C. TEASORTH
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

ABOARD U.S. FLAGSHIP OFF PHILIPPINES, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—A fantastic Japanese plan to destroy the American invasion ships in Lingayen Gulf by hurling at them a fleet of "suicide boats" can be revealed today.

The plan flopped because the Japanese failed to exploit their weapon to the maximum advantage, and because rapid advance of American troops rendered the "suicide base" untenable.

The Japanese made a feeble effort to sink the American ships on the night of the landing on the Lingayen beaches, but caused only slight damage and did not repeat the attack.

I accompanied a naval party that discovered the hideout of the Japanese suicide boats Monday and took us into Sual bay on the west side of the gulf, where the boats had been abandoned.

DIFFICULT TO SPOT

The hideout was just north of the town of Sual in a coconut grove that made it difficult to spot from the air. The Japanese apparently fled two or three days ago as the Americans approached the base.

We found 22 boats measuring 18 feet and seven inches in length. They had been equipped to carry two depth charges and two spares on the rear. They could be dropped in the normal manner or set off as the boat crashed into the side of a ship.

They had places for two men, but also were rigged so that one could carry out a mission. The device for releasing the depth charges was crudely made of two long steel rods joined together near the bow.

SPECIAL SQUADRON

The boats were operated by a special squadron of the Japanese army. They were built as dispatch or communication boats, and the suicide equipment obviously was added just before the Americans landed here. We found evidence it was installed at the Sual base.

Since the Allied warships bombarded the Lingayen area and navy demolition teams combed the gulf for three days before the actual landing, the enemy had plenty of time to prepare the boats.

They had six-cylinder engines and were capable of doing 22 knots. They were made almost entirely of plywood. We found five of them along the beach and the rest hidden in the coconut grove. Those on the beach had been damaged, probably in their own attack, and the others did not appear to have been used at all.

Govt. Subventions Required to Move Nova Scotia Coal

SYDNEY, N.S., Jan. 17.—(CP)—

Payment of government subventions to assist in the movement of Nova Scotia coal to inland points in eastern Canada will be necessary after the war to assure full production from Nova Scotia coal mines, the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation said in a brief presented yesterday to the Carroll coal commission.

The Royal Commission, composed of Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll of Halifax, chairman, Angus J. Morrison, United Mine Workers official, and Mr. Justice C. C. McLaurin of Calgary, opened its hearings yesterday.

The first brief, that of the Dominion Corporation, had not been completed at the adjournment.

NASH LOOKS AHEAD

At present, Nash is engaged on an all-out war job . . .

Giant 2,000 horsepower 18-cylinder supercharged Pratt & Whitney engines for Corsair and Hellcat fighting planes . . . Sikorsky helicopters . . . Hamilton propellers . . . these are coming in ever-increasing quantities from Nash assembly lines.

Nash is proud of the part it has been privileged to play in war production.

But all this exacting work . . . the vastly expanded equipment, the advanced engineering knowledge, the new skills, the accelerated "know how" . . . have caused Nash engineers and designers to look ahead . . .

Ahead to the new and finer Nash cars that Nash will build when peace comes!

Already plans are made, problems met, new knowledge and fresh ideas incorporated in the blueprints for the finer Nash "600" in the low price field . . . the finer Ambassador in the medium price field . . . that Nash will build when its war job is done.

Nash looks back at all it has accomplished in giving you better cars . . . cars that were "years ahead" in economy of operation, comfort, efficiency of performance when they came on the market . . .

And Nash looks ahead at what it is now possible to give you in post-war automobiles as far in advance of the pre-war Nash as it was of its field . . . all the traditional progressiveness of Nash, with the skills and advances developed by Nash in wartime added!

Books for the Troops

The Municipal Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire has been asked to raise $6,000 in Edmonton as this city's share of a $300,000 fund which will be used to buy books for the armed forces.

Every Edmonton man and woman
should be happy to contribute.

The earlier method of securing books for servicemen and servicewomen was to ask for gifts from various libraries. This method has become ineffective because the bottom of the private book barrel has been reached. Gifts of books, if they are modern, lively and readable, are still useful.
But there is not nearly enough of them
available for the purpose.

That is why it has been found necessary to ask for donations of money so that the right kind of reading material—not ancient almanacs and hymn books and catalogues—may be purchased from the cheapest possible source.

It is unnecessary to stress the urgency of this need. Boredom is the worst enemy of morale. And a few good books will chase away boredom.

This I.O.D.E. project, then, is essentially worth while. Edmonton people should count it a privilege to support it.

They Won't Do It

Premier Duplessis appears in a new role when he appeals for "better understanding" between Quebec and the other provinces. But it is doubtful if that very desirable object will be helped by his appeal. The hindrance is that the Premier wants to lay down the basis of the "better understanding," and it is one which the people of the other provinces will not accept, however much he may want them to.

Mr. Duplessis emphasizes this when he explains that, according to his view, the people of Quebec are interested in nothing else than in being Canadians and in getting along well materially. These are both most worthy ideals, but they are impossible
while they are tied to the isolationist principle of which Mr. Duplessis is so ardent an exponent.

Quebec, he says in effect, wants to live
by itself and let the rest of the world go by, and hopes the other provinces will do the same. There you have the isolationist theory in full bloom. Let Canadians ignore what goes on beyond their own borders, and everyone will be happy here. So runs the argument.

The fault of course is that the rest of the world won't go by. Isolation is no longer possible. Canada is part of a world in which distance now means little, and where there are meddlers who will not let hermit nations live by themselves. Whether we like it or not, we are living in the twentieth century, not the seventeenth.

In eight of the provinces of Canada
these things are clearly understood. Mr.
Duplessis thinks the people of these provinces are all wrong in the view that safety and prosperity require Canada to play its part in the world as one nation among many. He wants them to join him in trying to turn the Dominion into Shangri-La.
They won't do it.

Let's Stop Helping Hitler

Herr Goebbels and his propaganda
staff are now telling the Nazis the bitter truth that the war of aggression has backfired and that they must fight to save themselves from the penalty. And no longer are the broadcasters trying to spur
non-Nazi Germans with tales of victories which were never won and promises of plunder as the reward for backing Hitler with all they have and are.

Now the message to the Nazis is that they have nothing to hope but that something to their advantage may turn up if they keep on fighting. To the non-Nazi the word is that the Allies propose to sweep through Germany with fire and sword, and utterly destroy the German nation. The gospel of profit-through-war has given way to a gospel of fear-of-retribution complete and indiscriminate.

This new brand of propaganda is effective, so far as outsiders can judge.
There are no signs that the Nazi party is breaking down from internal dissension, or is threatened by popular revolt. There apparently is grim determination alike
among the fighting forces of the enemy and the civilian population. The morale may be the morale of desperation, but that it is strong cannot be doubted.

What is the hope, dim as it may be,
which holds the Fuehrer's partisans and the non-Nazi Germans together, when there is no prospect left but that of prolonging the war? Undoubtedly it is the hope that war-weariness will weaken the resolution of the Allies, and that the fault-finding and bickering in which they are now indulging will split them apart—and so give Germany an opportunity to end
the war in a stalemate and a negotiated peace.

It is time—high time—for Allied speakers and writers to change their propaganda too. They should take a tip from the enemy and emphasize the consequences of defeat—and for the Allies anything less than complete victory ending in a dictated peace would be defeat. The shrewd gentlemen at Berlin know this and are trading on it. But there are a lot of people in England and in the United States who do not seem to see that they are playing Hitler's game when they exaggerate minor differences and drive wedges of ill-

feeling into the relations between Britain,
the United States and Russia.

It is time to concentrate on the fundamental fact that "Nothing matters now
but Victory."

Admiral Nimitz sums up Japanese losses for the past year as 6,700 planes and more than 1,000 ships. An island state can obviously hold possessions abroad only if it can maintain sea and air communications. Japan has lost effective communications by either ships or planes with the stolen islands and southern territories on the Asian continent. To win its war Tokyo must not only continue to fight but must recover its lost control of both elements.

An official announcement states that 1944 was one of the healthiest years in the history of Britain. Despite the crowding in bomb shelters, the cases of contagious disease were relatively few. And despite V-1's and V-2's, there were 5,000
fewer deaths than in 1943—while births increased more than 29,000. Skimpiness as it is, the wartime diet does not seem to have weakened the disease-resistance of British-ers. It is to the point to remember that hundreds of thousands of young men, ranking high in the health schedule, were out of the country; the statistics therefore reflect conditions chiefly among militarily unfit men, women, children and old people.

Financial Bulwarks

FROM THE VICTORIA TIMES

Apart from the magnificent war record of this country in the matter of military contributions to victory under their innumerable heads, Mr. Halsey's statement reminds Canadians that in the year 1944
they loaned their government approximately $2,000,- 000,000, or $1,000,000,000 more than Canada's total bill for her participation in the First Great War,
and nearly 10 times the entire national debt before that conflict began. Again this is not all; in 1944, War Savings Certificates and Stamps accounted for another $67,000,000 in national thrift by loans. Add last year's investments in their country by Canadians to their purchases of bonds of previous issues,
and one understands something of the volume of ready cash that will be available for peacetime purchases later on—surely an effective bulwark against the introduction of "imistic innovations."

Editor, Bulletin: I, too, can affirm that the statement made by so-called "Canadian" (i.e., that the English regard Canadians as foreigners) is an absolute untruth. I visited back home six years ago,
and everyone I met was most anxious to hear all about Canada,
and not once did I meet with the slightest sign of unfriendliness. I never heard the word "foreigner" used in any connection, either with Canada or the United States. People should be sure of their facts before writing to the press. They certainly do not do so in a spirit of

Canadians First

Editor Bulletin: Many wives and mothers have been very disappointed because their sons or husbands could not come home after five years of service overseas.
These men have to wait till shipping space can be arranged.

Several thousand British war brides arrived in Canada since the spring of 1943, and are still coming. The transportation authorities seem to find plenty of shipping
space for them and their families.

The Canadian National Railways
since then have operated many special trains with such conveniences as a clothes line strung up to hang the babies' washing. This many Canadian women would appreciate when travelling with little ones, but so far none have experienced such luxury.

The blame is not on these women but on the transportation officials. Let them and us give our first consideration to the men who have done so much in the front lines and who honestly earned a good rest at home.

These British women have done nothing for Canada yet, so why not let them wait for shipping space?

International Government

Editor, Bulletin: The international affairs of mankind can not be conducted in peace or towards peace by separate political units.

Peace in its positive aspect of prosperity and in its negative aspect of absence from war can only be attained through unity of political action at the international level.

The first step toward that objective is the calling of a convention
representative of the Allied nations, or of such as wish to attend, to provide for the election of a parliament to look after the international affairs of their people.

The plain people everywhere desire peace more than national sovereignty. Peace is within their grasp provided their leaders have international vision and refuse to be subservient to those interests which profit from the continued fragmentation of humanity into na-

Provincial Rights Movement

Many Subjects Waiting For Discussion With Ottawa

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA—An important provincial rights movement seems to be getting under way with headquarters in Ontario. The repeated public criticisms by Premier Drew of the Dominion-provincial conference are not isolated. In some cases there have been negotiations with a few of the other provinces. Here
the aim appears to be to reach common ground in opposition to the Dominion on specific measures—
like family allowances. In others,
an agreement between Ontario and some other province has been sought with the intention of gaining approval of other provinces later on. The example, here, is the succession duties agreement between Ontario and Quebec.

With regard to health administration, the approach has been to call a conference of all the provinces. A meeting of this kind began at Toronto last Tuesday. Some of the provinces have not turned up and others apparently will not discuss any point which trenches
upon Dominion-provincial relations.
No more suitable occasion, however, could be found for canvassing opinion on family allowances

in a general way.

These many-aided negotiations,
if they prospered, might result in the calling of an inter-provincial conference. That point, however, appears not to have been reached
as yet.

At the 1941 Dominion-provincial conference, it will be recalled, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia were in a minority. The Quebec government did not declare itself, but if the conference had not been wrecked at the outset it was generally thought that Mr. Godbout would have lined up with the other three in resisting any transfer of provincial jurisdiction to Ottawa.

Alberta's enlistment with the conference wreckers was regarded as due to Social Credit predilections for provincial autonomy rather than to common sense. By and large, the more favored provinces were a minority against the majority of the less favored provinces and the Dominion.

There has always been a strong provincial rights movement in Canada. The present development attempts to convince all the provinces that all the advantages claimed for the Rowell-Sirois recommendations—or indeed any other proposal made in Ottawa—
can be gained without sacrifice of provincial jurisdiction at any point.

At the moment the provinces are under agreement with the Dominion to surrender certain taxation
in return for compensatory subsidies. These agreements run until after the war but can be terminated by any province at any time.
The subsidies, of course, would automatically be forfeit. These agreements are disliked by the wealthier provinces and any notion that the surrender of taxation power should be made permanent is anathema to them. It is understood that a formula calculated to satisfy the weaker provinces and avoid any transfer of jurisdiction has been worked out. The detail is not known with certainty, but it runs something like this. The agreements should be terminated,
if not now at the end of the war,
and unless the provinces are required to carry out the provision in all of them that the corporation tax will be reduced. The amount of the reduction, say 10 per cent, would continue to be collected by Ottawa
in behalf of the provinces, and would be turned over to the provinces on the basis of retail sales.
This would give the weaker provinces substantially more revenue
than they could obtain out of a corporation tax of their own. Their jurisdiction would be retained and the combined corporation tax would be the result of agreement between the Dominion and the provinces and not susceptible of change except by consent of all parties.

In addition, there is talk of the wealthier provinces agreeing to turn over sums of money to those with less revenue, to tide them over the period when their own resources are insufficient.

It is said that an understanding has already been reached by the provinces most interested in mining on the matter of Dominion taxation of mines. Much higher dependence allowances are to be required of the Dominion and the right of the provinces to have a say in how their natural resources are taxed by Ottawa is to be asserted. This might not be very good constitutional law, but it is regarded as pretty fair politics.

Family allowance negotiations appear to be far advanced between Ontario and Quebec. Reports in the French-Canadian press are to the effect that Provincial Treasurer Frost of Ontario conferred with Mr. Duplessis and his colleagues at Quebec a few weeks ago
and agreed on common opposition to the Dominion. The nature of this agreement is not given in the report, but it is assumed that both governments will demand that the provinces be made the administrators of the allowances. There is assumed to be some political advantage in signing and sending out the cheques and this function would go along with the administration.
There is reason to believe that several of the so-called weaker provinces are in favor of this proposal.
The newspaper reports indicate a serious effort to prevent the Dominion from putting allowances into effect unless this point is met. In view of Mr. Drew's anti Quebec campaign on conscription, it is surprising to find Le Devoir, on Jan. 5, hailing him as the vigorous champion of provincial autonomy
and as the "natural ally" of Quebec so long as the Liberal party
remains in power at Ottawa.

Nobody here pretends to know where Mr. Drew stands at the present time in this campaign. He may have made considerable headway, or there may have been rebuffs. It is believed that he has been encouraged by Alberta and British Columbia and, perhaps, by Saskatchewan. The position of Saskatchewan, however, must be regarded as extremely doubtful from Mr.
Drew's standpoint. On Monday,
Jan. 8, Mr. Caldwell, in an interview with the Ottawa Citizen, declared the CCF to be in favor of the transfer of taxing powers from the province to the Dominion.

But whether he succeeds or fails,
Mr. Drew is conceded to be showing resourcefulness. He has moved into the vacuum created by the decision of the Dominion not to call a conference before the election and it is evident that his performances
to date, even though the results are guesswork, has caused disquiet,
even anxiety, at Ottawa.

There is little criticism here of the decision to postpone the conference. But there is considerable criticism of the Government for failing to announce a policy with respect to Dominion-provincial affairs.
Such a policy, if put out now,
would tend to hold the weaker provinces in line. As it is, Mr. Drew has a clear field and appears to be making the most of it. To even the "weakest" province there is something highly attractive about not giving up jurisdiction.

bus service. So far we seem to have been forgotten.

Why not let the Checker taxi bus which stands idle at 124 street for ten minutes come as far as the city limits, if you haven't any other buses available?

Most of the land buyers were told that a bus service would be starting soon and in time a school centrally located. This encouraged people to make their homes here, expecting a few conveniences, such as a transportation. Some of the vacant houses would be rented in this part of the city if there was any way of getting to and from their work. They find it too far to walk and can you blame them for putting in a full day's work.

Don't you think the school children would study much better if they weren't so cold and tired by the time they have walked over two miles to school?

Then there are elderly people walking two miles to a store. Come on city fathers give all your citizens
a fair chance to get to and from their work, schools and stores.

Tips for Meal Glorification

To Help Homemaker With Colossal Problem of Meal Planning

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

Of course we homemakers don't complain, but we certainly do appreciate any little suggestion in planning and preparing those three meals a day, seven days a week,
and fifty-two weeks in the year.

But these aren't for women only!
Where is the woman who doesn't thrill to the suggestion made by the man of the house! So men here is your chance to please and help the little woman (with apologies for the phrase made popular by the Jack Benny program) with her colossal problem of meal planning.

Light Cream

Since the butter fat in cream has been reduced drastically, cream
does not whip so easily. Here is one solution to the problem if you insist on having whipped cream.

Put one and one-fourth teaspoons
unflavored gelatine in two tablespoons of cold water. Heat over boiling water, stirring until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved.

Remove from boiling water and add it to one cup of chilled cream seasoned with a pinch of salt. Place
the bowl of cream in a pan of ice and whip with a rotary egg beater until mixture begins to hold its shape around the edge of the bowl.

Remove from ice water and stir with a spoon until smooth. Store in refrigerator until needed.

Cream that is two or three days old will whip more quickly than fresh.

Salad dressings which are easy to make and require neither sugar nor oil are popular. A good fruit salad dressing is made by blending three tablespoons of lemon juice
with a dash of salt and four tablespoons of honey.

When well mixed, add this mixture to one beaten egg. Gradually add one cup of fruit juice to cook
in the top of the double boiler until thick, stirring constantly.

Another fruit dressing, and one of the simplest, is made by combining equal parts of honey and lemon juice with a dash of paprika.
Sweet or sour cream dressing for vegetables such as cabbage, grated carrot, lettuce or fresh greens is easily whipped up when four tablespoons of vinegar are mixed

School Pupils Have Parliament

SPIRIT RIVER: Pupils of the Spirit River High school have formed a provincial parliament and appointed a lieutenant-governor, a speaker, as well as a premier and a full cabinet; names of all of the constituencies of the province, including five each for the two cities of Calgary and Edmonton, were placed in a hat on slips of paper and each pupil drew the name of the constituency that he or she would represent, and after a few rehearsals under the direction of H. E. DeBolt, M.L.A., parliament will open with a throne speech and a full dress debate upon it.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

After two years of unsuccessful land campaigns to capture Jap-held Akyab, biggest port on Burma's west coast, the British, with the largest combined operations force ever launched against the Asiatic continent, took the town without a shot being fired. The Japs had scrambled. Possession of this island port gives Allies a harbor capable of accommodating 8,000-ton ships and air bases whose easy-bombing arc includes the great Jap strongholds of Mandalay and Rangoon, and the only escape routes out of the latter port. Operations from Akyab will complement southward drives of British, Chinese and U.S. forces toward Mandalay and Lashio.

Hughenden Soldier Helps to Entertain Canadians in Italy

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN ITALY, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—Gunner A. S. Berg of Hughenden, Alta., had a hand in entertaining the troops in Italy recently. Berg took part in the gigantic sports day staged by the Second Canadian field regiment.

Racing cards featured the day—and there was every kind of race imaginable. Mule races—jeep races—truck races and motorcycle races. Nobody cared who won.

The day wound up with a moonlight revue. The revue was a mixture of singing, dancing and pantomime—including a wrestling match.

Placed Too High Some Allied Newsmen Think Nazi Losses Over-Estimated

By JACK FLEISCHER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

WITH ALLIED FORCES, Western Front, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—Many Allied correspondents believe that some recent Allied claims of tremendous German losses in the Ardennes offensive are exaggerated, and can lead only to false optimism at home about the German military situation.

A staff officer of the U.S. First Army told correspondents yesterday it was estimated that the Germans since Dec. 16 had paid a price of 150,000 casualties—meaning troops captured, killed or wounded—and lost 900 tanks. Reports emanating from Paris set enemy casualties at 200,000 of which the U.S. Third Army alone was estimated to have accounted for 80,000.

(U.S. Secretary of War Stimson reported in Washington on Monday that German casualties in the Ardennes from Dec. 15 to Jan. 7 totalled 90,000 including 40,000 prisoners and an estimated 50,000 killed or wounded.)

RIDICULOUS CLAIMS
If the 200,000 estimate from Paris were correct, and the average German division is reckoned at 10,000 troops, it would mean the Germans had lost the equivalent of 20 divisions.

Correspondents and officers who should know better, the more they thought that the Germans could have suffered such terrific losses. In addition, it is noted that a German division now averages between 6,000 and 8,000 men.

As for the First Army claim of 900 tanks destroyed, it is pointed out that according to best information, that figure is higher than the total number of armored vehicles

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching, pain or crusting sores, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or sore or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get a package of them from Merrick Drug Stores or any drugstore and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally as a small easy to take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots.

It is pleasant to use a slightly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Ham-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

WETASKIWIN Army boys expected to be taken apart by the Edmonton RCAF Flyers at the Arena on Tuesday night, although perhaps not to the extent of 14-0, due to the current shortage of experienced talent at that training centre. But rather than default, they just dug up the best available and carried on.

"Reinforcements" are due any day now and no doubt the team will be better off for players in future games, but additions will have to be good, for both Flyers and Red Deer are pretty well fortified.

Fred Whittaker, goalie for Vancouver's labrosse Burrends, also knows how to guard a hockey net and he gave a decidedly smart display for Wetaskiwin. Some of the stops he made must have surprised even himself, for on several occasions after going down, he glanced back to make certain the puck wasn't in the rigging, before making a move.

Several of the Wetaskiwin players are from B.C. Jack Shillaber and Alan Shantz are from Wetaskiwin, the latter being a member of the EAC juniors. "Bud" Turley, who comes from Regina at one time played with Fil Fido. Bert Stanley is from Brandon, Bob Arnett from Edmonton, "Red" Hunter claims Grande Prairie as his home and "Curly" Breault used to get his mail at Tawatinaw. Sgt. Clem Dennington is coach of the club and Lt. Bert McCartney the manager. Johnny Decebrin, the trainer, held that position for Junior Trail Smoke Eaters last season.

"MOON" MULLEN HEADS SOUTH

RILEY "MOON" MULLEN, hockey-playing farmer from the Millet district who recently received his discharge from the Canadian Army, intends to leave almost immediately for California to finish the remainder of the season where he made his start in professional hockey. He has been signed by Hollywood in the revamped Pacific Coast circuit.

After learning his hockey in amateur ranks in these parts, Mullen, a big, raw-boned defence man, emigrated to California some 15 years ago to embark on an ice career that has taken him into almost every rink in the west on both sides of the border. Moving north he joined Seattle Seahawks in the Western International League and, when that loop folded, regained his amateur card.

Since that time "Moon" saw service with a number of Alberta senior clubs including Olds, Edmonton Flyers, Lethbridge and Red Deer Army before getting his army discharge a week or so ago.

HERE AND THERE

JOHNNY FILION, the Sault Ste. Marie player, evidently believes in going the whole route when he starts collecting points, five goals and two assists constituting a fair evening's work under any conditions. He now has 12 points to show for three games, two more than "Chuck" Normandin's bag to date.

Hassie Young and Alan Nikiforuk both gathered up four points last night. Mike McCloskey made three and Wally Green two. All told Hassie now has seven, while Alan and Mike both have six and Wally Green four. "Tony" Savage, Arvie Wilson and Zanussi have two each.

There is considerable at stake in tonight's Canadian - EAC junior struggle. The EAC team with four wins in six starts are just two points down from Canadians who have taken five straight. Canadians also have chalked up well-severed wins over Calgary Juniors and Regina Commandos since defeating EAC squad 5-1 in the opening game of the season on Dec. 9. The EAC's looked good against Maple Leafs last Wednesday.

Johnny Filion Scores Five

RCAF Flyers Smother Wetaskiwin Army 14-0

ENCOUNTERING little opposition, Edmonton RCAF swamped Wetaskiwin Army 14-0 in Tuesday night's Inter-Service Hockey League game at the Arena here. In first place the Flyers have two wins and a tie in three starts. Red Deer Army, third team in the circuit, will play Wetaskiwin Army on the latter's home ice Thursday night.

Five goals together with a pair of assists were Johnny Filion's contribution, while Hassie Young and Alan Nikiforuk both scored twice. Other goals went to Howard Cutler, Wally Green, Chuck Normandin, Mike McCloskey and Tony Koslock.

Had it not been for very fine work by Fred Whittaker, in the Wetaskiwin nets, especially in the first period, the score would have assumed really formidable proportions. Whittaker, a former goalie of the Vancouver Burrards' lacrosse team.

Tremblay and Grise, two regular members of the Flyers were loaned to the Army, otherwise able to ice only 12 men.

FIRST TO NIKIFORUK

It took the RCAF boys over 13 minutes to get the first puck past Whittaker, Nikiforuk securing the initial goal of the game at 13:15 on a pass from Hassie Young. Young stole the rubber from one of the Army men and shoved it over to Nikiforuk as the two went in on the goalie.

Howard Cutler made the count two on a three-way effort with Wally Green and Tony Savage at 15:12, and "Chuck" Normandin combined with Filion for the third at 17:57.

Filion popped in two more as the second period opened, the first on a lone foray at exactly one minute and the second just 15 seconds later, when Mike McCloskey slipped him the puck.

Young's goal at 11:55 resulted from a nice combination rush with Nikiforuk, Young taking the pass from his former EAC team-mate right in front and driving the gutta percha into the far corner of the net.

Arvie Wilson got the seventh underway right at his own blue line, making the pass to Wally Green as the two sifted through the Army defence. McCloskey whipped in another from the left boards to finish off a play with Filion at 17:15 and Nikiforuk raised the total to nine just before the end of the period with a close-in shot on Young's relay.

THREE MORE FOR FILION

Filion flipped in three more during the final session. He scored at 4:55 from McCloskey, added another at 10:25 with Normandin supplying the pass and the third at 11:43 after hooking the puck from an Army defenceman and letting go from point-blank range.

The other two in the last period went to Tony Koslock on Nikiforuk's pass, and to Young, unassisted.

Wetaskiwin had a one-man advantage when Ryan heavily boarded a soldier and was sent off, but failed to capitalize on the opportunity. A minor penalty shot awarded when Goale Turgeon "threw the puck forward" was taken by Army centre "Curly" Breault, but nothing resulted. Turgeon blocked, but the shot wasn't delivered before passing the penalty line and so there wouldn't have been a goal even if the puck had gone in.

Alan Shantz had a good chance to score near the end of the final

Clippers Shade Division Cagers By Score 39-36

A burst of power in the dying minutes at NWAC drill hall Tuesday night gave US Clippers a narrow 39-36 victory over the Alaskan Division Headquarters club in an Inter-Service Basketball League game.

John Galvin led the winners with a nice total of 19 points while Roy Bundy and John Parvini also supplied plenty of spark. Manuel Dorsky dropped in 14 counters for the Division squad to pace them in their untiring effort.

Division led 9-7 at the end of the first quarter, but yielded the lead in the second when they were outscored 9-5. Half time count was 16-14.

Division came back to deadlock the score at the three quarter mark at 25-25 and then went ahead in the last. They were enjoying a 35-31 edge with about four minutes to play and then came the final game winning effort by the Clippers.

Major Baseball Reserves Being Hit by Demands

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Manpower demands continue to bite deeper into major league reserves Tuesday as the number of big time baseball players entering the service since the close of the 1944 season rose to at least 24 as compared to six discharged veterans who may return to the game.

Although the number of players who left their clubs was less than five per cent of the total on the reserve lists, many more entered essential industry and jobs helping the war effort, giving no hint of their 1945 plans.

Joe Cronin's Boston Red Sox, nicked heavily last summer when Tex Hughson, Bobby Doerr and Hal Wagner were called up in the thick of the four-way American League pennant fight, again were the hardest hit.

Herbie Cain Ends Slump With 4 Goals

BOSTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The veteran Herb Cain went on a four-goal scoring rampage as the Boston Bruins broke a six-game losing streak by topping the Toronto Maple Leafs, 5-3 Tuesday night before an 11,000 crowd at the Boston garden.

That first 1945 triumph enabled the home forces to break their fourth-place National Hockey League deadlock with the New York Rangers.

Cain, held pointless in his last seven contests, collected two goals during the first period and the other pair during the second frame. After battling in close-up twice, he performed the "hat trick" by catching a long pass from defenceman Jack Shewchuk, dropping it and then batting it home from 10 feet out. His final counter was a 45-foot line drive.

After Cain gave the Bruins a 2-0 lead, Dave Schirner notched a tainted tally for the Leafs. He was given credit when a long angular pass from Art Jackson, a recent Bruin, was deflected into the Boston net by one of his skates. Shortly after that freak shot, Gino Rozzini gave the Bruins a 3-1 lead by converting Armand Gaudreault's assist.

Babe Pratt scored the last two Toronto goals during the final. While both sides were shy a player, that lanky defenceman registered Lorne Carr's setback and, with less than three minutes to go, he battled in a puck from a lively scrimmage in front of the Bruins' net to complete the game's scoring.

Bill Thoms, let out last week by the Chicago Black Hawks, made his debut with the Bruins as right winger on their first line and assisted Cain with his first goal.

Hill Rink Posts Three Wins As Veterans' Bonspiel Opens

Bert Hill and his Edmonton Club curlers, who were edged out in the grand challenge final a year ago, obtained a good start towards reaching the final of the Veterans' Curling Association annual bonspiel again this year by winning in all three draws on Tuesday, opening day, at the Granite Club.

Also unbeaten, but with only two wins are John Colville's Alberta Avenue quartet and Dennis O'Brien's crew from the Granite.

The Hill rink, the oldest average age of any four masters of the broom and stone game in the old-timers' spiel—about 67 and a half—shaded M. C. Millson, Granite, 9-8 on the 9 o'clock draw, won from H. S. Hegler, another Granite curler on the 1:30 game and then continued his skill through the third match by handing Jack Gagnon's Royal four their first setback, 11-7.

The Colville rink stopped Arnold Carscadden from Fort Saskatchewan 12-7 on the last draw yesterday and beat Charlie Croft 10-5 on the game previous to the two wins while O'Brien defeated H. C. L. Christman 10-8 and William Carter 10-5 for his pair of triumphs.

M. L. Sells of the Granite was sailing along with two wins and well on his way to a third on the last draw yesterday when a big five ender by Christman's Thistle upset the whole apple cart and handed the Sells rink a 13-12 defeat. The score was all tied up at 8-8 on the eighth and Sells counted a four to take what appeared a safe lead on the ninth. It wasn't quite so safe, however, as the Christman crew staged a real finish on the 10th.

Two more draws are arranged for today, and the finals will be played on Thursday morning. When the qualifying round is finished, the top two go into the first and second of the primary, Gravelle Cup; the next two will battle for third and fourth of the same event; the third pair will play for the first and second in the secondary, McCafferty Cup; the fourth two will meet for third and fourth in the tertiary; the sixth two tangle for third and fourth in the tertiary and the remaining three play for consolation honors.

Following are Tuesday's results:

9 A.M. DRAW
Hill 9, Willson 8; Carter 12, Hegler 7; Gagnon 10, Christman 8; Carscadden 11, Douglas 7; Sells 12, Walford 9; Croft 11, Townsley 8.

1:30 P.M. DRAW
Croft 5, Colville 10; Douglas 8, Townsley 10; Hill 9, Hegler 8; Carter 8, Gagnon 10; O'Brien 10, Christman 8; Sells 11, Carscadden 7.

3:00 P.M. DRAW

"You know I'm STILL undecided!"

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—Jumping Joe Savoldi, one of the war's mystery men, returns to the mat at Philadelphia tonight after an absence of nearly 18 months—most of which were spent at various European fronts on secret missions for the armed forces.

Exact details of Savoldi's activities "over there" must remain cloaked for some time, upon orders from Uncle Sam; but no Hollywood scenario is needed to imagine the perilous enterprises probably undertaken by this linguist, Notre Dame graduate, and bone-crushing athlete.

"I am not permitted to say much about my duties overseas," the burly, black-haired wrestler explained Tuesday at the Al Mayer-Tools Mound booking office. "You see, I'm still subject to recall if they need me again."

"Have you been discharged from the army?"

"I wasn't in the army."

"What were you in?"

"WASNT IN ANYTHING"

"Let's say I wasn't in anything. Let's just say I was working for the government on special assignment. Yes, I am permitted to tell what areas I visited. They were North Africa, Sicily, Italy—including Salerno—and France—including Normandy. Yes, I was under fire—plenty, at times. No, I wasn't wounded. He grinned and added, "This scar on my cheek and these cauliflower ears came before the war."

Jumping Joe, who contributed the "drop-kick" (under a man's chin) to wrestling, probably was picked for his secret duties because he provided a triple threat on the various fronts, with his languages, intelligence and brawn.

He speaks Italian without an accent, having been born and given his early schooling in Italy. He understands and speaks French fairly well, having lived in pre-war France more than eight months. At Notre Dame, under the late Knute Rockne, he won his varsity letter as fullback for three seasons, and he was graduated with a B.Sc. degree. He won Jim London's championship in 1933, and lost them to Jim Browning in '35. He played pro football briefly with the Chicago Bears before turning to the more lucrative field of modified haymen.

MADE "GOOD MONEY"
JUMPING JOE admitted that he had made "good money" during 12 years on the mat. Now, at 36, he has a fine home at Harbor, Mich., where his 11-year-old son, Joe, Jr., enjoys a private beach on Lake Michigan. Just before the war he opened a soft-drink manufactory, but he had to close after Pearl Harbor, because his brief career as a manufacturer did not entitle him to priorities on ingredients.

Savoldi believes that the war will have two effects upon wrestling. "There will be a boom in the sport when peace comes," he said, "for thousands of service boys have become interested in it because of the training in command tactics."

"And this command training probably will make future wrestling much rougher than it is now—with a tendency toward gouging, chopping, butting and kneeling. Meanwhile, modernized wrestling of the present must be given credit for contributing much to command tactics—improvements that have out-dated the old jiu-jitsu of the Japanese."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—An idea was spreading Tuesday that Jimmy Byrnes is the fellow that baseball could well use as its new commissioner.

From various sources, this appraisal came of the war mobilization director.

West End defeated Calder 2-1, Highlands won from Jasper Place 3-2, and Highlands (2) outscored Stadium 5-3 in Tuesday's Canadian Athletic Club pee-wee hockey league games at 119 Street rink.

"Bud" Loftus counted on a pass from Mike Hirst and "Fergie" Downey registered with the help of H. Anderson in giving West End the two goals to end Calder's three-game winning streak. Defenceman Benwood secured the Calder marker.

Hopping from Diakur, Hyde from Diakur and Crutcher's unassisted were the Highlands (1) goal-getters, while Atrial scored from Clift and Hawker from LeBlanc for Jasper Place. The Highlands goalie Campbell and Diakur were standouts for their team.

Red Deer Army Defeats Signals In Cage Clash

RED DEER, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Soldiers hoopers were hoats to US Signals here Tuesday and sent them home with the short end of a 50-34 score.

The game opened somewhat raggedly and the Signallers took a nice lead in the first quarter but in the second and third cantos the encounter became more brisk and both clubs were racing neck and neck on the scoreboard.

In the fourth quarter the Red Deer soldiers turned a terrific spurt and steadily raced ahead till they had piled up a comfortable margin. The game was on the whole fast and clean, Jim Junker of the Signallers being the only player to leave the game with four personals.

Rota starred for the Canadians with a tidy total of 18 points. Stillin adding a useful 14. Ferrari registered nine for the Signallers, as did Henches, and Glazier contributed eight. Others credited with points for the Red Deer club were McDonald with seven, Campkin with four, Barker, Loomas and Bickerton with two each and Lydiard with one. Nelson and Junker notched four each for the Signallers. Jarvis Miller called the plays.

POSSIBLE HORSES
Come Here From The U.S. Tracks

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

TORONTO, Jan. 17.—(BUP)—Full effect of the Byrnes ban on U.S. racing won't be known by Canadian track operators for quite a while yet—and if the ban is lifted before Canadian racing starts its effect may be negligible.

However, some of the turf observers in Ontario are already doing some fancy forecasting about the shape of things to come on the Canadian turf this year.

For example, they point out that Canadian tracks may be able to lure plenty of top notch American steeds over the border in spite of the ruling that prohibits the shipping of American horses to tracks closer than 200 miles from U.S. boundaries.

There's just one track in Canada which meets these requirements—that's the Edmonton fair grounds oval. But by stretching the letter of the Byrnes law a bit, a wholesale shipment of American steeds could be shipped north to Edmonton for the opening of the Western Fair circuit next spring.

And after the Edmonton season was completed—these imported nags could then be shipped to any other track in Canada. Some of them would eventually work their way to British Columbia and to Eastern Canada via this "underground railway" method—that is, if Ottawa or provincial authorities didn't step in to block the practice.</

Free X-Ray Reveals Tb. Unsuspected

Persons who have been found to be victims of tuberculosis through the free X-ray chest examinations being conducted by the provincial department of health in most cases have been totally unsuspecting, according to Dr. G. R. Davison, medical superintendent of the Edmonton Sanatoria.

"Some of the cases of active tuberculosis which we have detected occurred in people who looked perfectly healthy and who had no complaint about not feeling well," the doctor said. "In some we had to search their histories very closely to find any indication that they were not quite up to normal in their work or energy."

12 ACTIVE CASES

In December, the first month of the campaign against tuberculosis, 12 active cases of the disease were discovered in people receiving examination. They will be placed in one of the T.B. wards as soon as space is available.

QUESTIONABLE CHESTS

One hundred and one persons were found with inactive tuberculosis, 42 had inactive pleurisy, 62 had other chest abnormalities and there were 25 who had questionable chests and who will be rechecked.

In the first week of January 1,462 persons were examined by workers of the clinic who are assisted by women of the Citizens' Volunteer Bureau.

Of this number, four were found to be "probables", 20 were inactive cases, 11 require re-examination and 9 had other chest abnormalities.

The tests are being conducted through the use of the mobile X-ray unit which was bought by the Kinsmen Club of Edmonton with proceeds from the sale of T.B. Christmas seals and donated to the provincial department of health. Appointments for examination may be made by phoning the clinic in the Edmonton Motors Building and the unit will remain in the city as long as the number of examinations is maintained at around 300 per day.

Dairy Products Demands Great Says Official

REGINA, Jan. 17.—(CP)—W. C. Cameron of Ottawa said in a address here Tuesday that statistics show it is becoming increasingly difficult to meet an ever-growing domestic demand for dairy products, fill contracts for cheese to Britain, contribute to high priority requests for dairy products and maintain what is considered a desirable balance in production in Canada.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the dairy farmers of Canada, Mr. Cameron, chief of the federal dairy products grading and inspection service, said the immediate future does not hold prospects of any substantial increase in milk production in any of the United Nations nor are there any surpluses of milk products while the demand continues great.

FOOD VALUES GREAT

The food values of dairy products were widely recognized and it was believed by many that the dairy industry would enter the post-war period in as a favorable a position as any branch of agriculture.

Milk production should be maintained at the highest possible levels, particularly in butter-producing areas and none should relax the support given the various control measures made necessary by the war.

"In this way all can assist in maintaining, so far as is possible, that balance in the production of the various dairy products which will ensure that no one branch of dairying expands unduly at the expense of any other branch, thus enabling the dairy industry to enter the post-war era in the strongest possible position," Mr. Cameron said.

SMALLEST SHIP

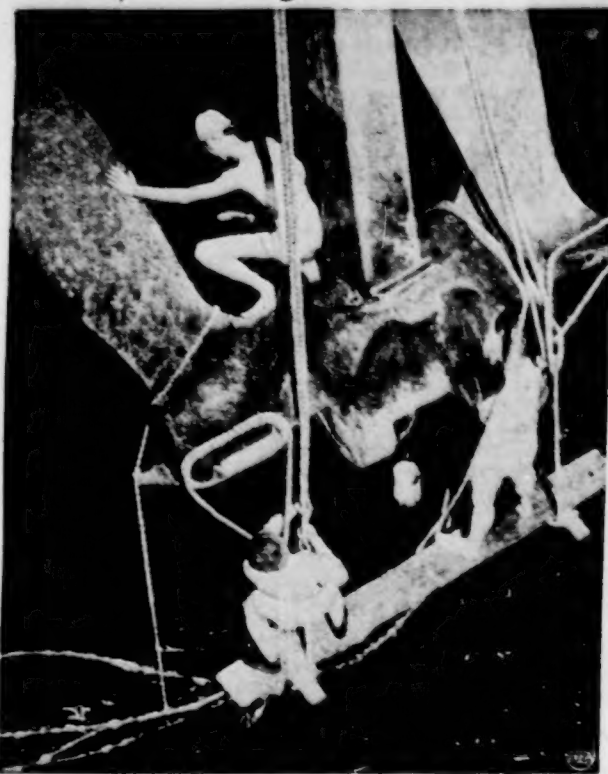

LONDON.—(CP)—Neville De Lacey, a professional model boat builder, has finished what he claims to be the smallest ship in the world—a model of a pirate brig measuring only 1/2 inch to the masthead. Made from a pencil stump it was passed through a bottle neck measuring only 3/16 inches.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW

When a huge aircraft carrier drops her mudhook there's one whale of a splash—and the comparative size of the sailors and the anchor in this photo tells you why. They're cleaning rust, barnacles and other marine growths off anchor of flagship of U.S. Navy carrier force in port after long stretch in the Pacific.

The figure is made up of 8,313 members in the UFA, 1,740 in the UFWA, women's organization; 734 in the Junior UFA; 271 life members, and 2,877 members at large.

According to the report, membership was greatest in 1921, when 37,721 members were enrolled. Of this number, 31,508 were in the main UFA organization.

UFA membership is highest in the federal constituency of Acadia, the report reveals. More than 2,000 farmers are enrolled in that division. No locals are listed in East Edmonton constituency.

STRONG CONSTITUENCIES

United Farm Women's membership is strongest in Medicine Hat constituency, where nine locals report 231 members. The Junior UFA has most members in Bow River riding, where there are five locals with a total of 171 members. No junior locals exist in West Calgary, East Calgary, Camrose, Lethbridge and East Edmonton ridings.

Financial statements approved by the convention Tuesday afternoon revealed a total of $13,192 collected as membership fees, collected by all branches of the UFA in the year ended Nov. 30, 1944. A further $525 in dues was in arrears. Of the $15,690 reported as revenue during the year, largest amount of income outside of dues came from the United Grain Growers Ltd., which gave $2,500 to the UFA.

Excess of revenue over expenditure for the year was $3,199, it was reported. Main items of expenditure were organization, $2,901; central office, $6,610, and general expenses, $2,889.

Currie Barracks. He left for overseas in October 1942. His father, a veteran of the Great War of 1914-1918 has been stationed at Camp Borden.

Major Dougan was awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous gallantry in action in the Sicilian campaign. He led his company of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment with outstanding ability near Mount Etna on Aug. 5, 1943 and captured important heights. Several times since he has figured prominently in news dispatches of action in Italy.

Sgt. H. O. W. Powell, 31 years old, whose wife and six-year-old son live at 10703 86 street enlisted in the Edmonton Fusiliers in 1940. He went overseas in 1943 after training at New Westminster, Nanaimo and Prince Rupert. Prior to enlisting he had been employed as a baker at McGavin's Limited. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Powell live here.

GALLANT ACTION

In a news dispatch from Italy on October 28 last he was mentioned along with Maj. J. A. Dougan, MC, and other members of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment for a successful attack on the San Fortunato Ridge in which 700 prisoners were taken and several hundred other either killed or wounded. Bill Boss, a correspondent with the troops described the action as "a brilliant daring manoeuvre on the part of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment which... sent men through the heart of the German position in the dead of night to a spur behind." Sergeant Powell was cited by Boss as one of those who had distinguished himself at the time.

Acting-Sergeant Hugh Alastair Swinton was born at North Battleford, Sask., the son of W. F. H. and Mrs. Swinton of Tofield. The family moved to Tofield in 1922, where Sergeant Swinton went to both public and high schools. Later he farmed near that town. He enlisted in Edmonton Sept. 7, 1939 and went overseas, and is serving now with a field regiment of Royal Canadian Artillery. He is well known in the Tofield area as an athlete, being particularly prominent in hockey and baseball. He has served in Britain, Sicily and Italy.

While stationed in Britain, he married an English girl and his wife and their small daughter are living in England. A brother, Sgt. Lulif Swinton was overseas for a long time with a unit of the Royal Canadian Engineers. He was invalided home and at present is a patient in an Edmonton hospital.

BORN AT MEETING CREEK

Cpl. Walter Sven Westlund is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Westlund of Meeting Creek. He was born Oct. 5, 1917, on a farm near Meeting Creek, the youngest of 10 children. When he was five years old, his family moved in to the village of Meeting Creek where they have lived ever since.

He received his education at the Meeting Creek school. Enlisting in the Edmonton Fusiliers, he was transferred later to the Calgary Highlanders. His mother, much of whose time of necessity is spent in the home, finds comfort and strength in his letters, to which she looks forward with great anticipation.

In the last letter his mother received, dated Dec. 10, he wrote "I am now on telephone duty working from 11 until two, and by the way they just pinned a medal on me. I'll tell you about it some day."

His favorite sports were playing baseball, skating and skiing.

Tpr. Harold Boetticher of the Canadian Armoured Corps was born just south of Veteran 23 years ago. His mother died when he was five years old and from then on he lived with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Guse, north of Coronation.

CORONATION SCHOOLS

He received his education at Coronation, and proved himself an all-round sportsman, fond of baseball and hockey.

He enlisted in the Canadian Army in May of 1941 and after spending two years in England, went to Italy, where he was seriously wounded several months ago. He was expected to reach Calgary early this week, where his uncle David Guse was to meet him.

Pte. Lloyd Blair was born at Hanna, Dec. 2, 1921 and was living there at the time of his enlistment in the Canadian Army. His wife lives at 18 Mayfair Gardens, Tottenham, London, England. He is a member of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

Patriotic Window Show at "The Bay"

An excellent patriotic window display in the interests of army recruiting can be viewed in the Hudson's Bay in which copies of portraits of famous Allied leaders by the famous Canadian artist, Egbert C. Reed, supply the central motive. Under the caption, "Allied Leaders to Victory", an appeal is made to the physically fit to join the army for overseas service. In the portrait display are seen such famous Allied leaders as Eisenhower, Montgomery, Alexander, Crerar, Burns, Simmons and others.

Also of interest in the display are a German dagger and an Iron Cross loaned by Len Thompson, an armorer, who received them from a relative now fighting in Holland.

Drive Carefully To Avoid Trouble

As winter advances and the snow crowds in on the roadways it takes a little more care in driving to avoid accidents and skids into either snowbanks or other cars. A little less speed will get you there a little sooner in most cases.

ROAD REPORTS

Snow in some districts, roads for the most part in good shape, somewhat heavy in some localities and temporarily blocked at Peace River and Fairview.

Mrs. W. G. Paterson was re-elected president of the women's auxiliary of Edmonton Branch No. 24 Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., at the first annual meeting of the auxiliary held in the Memorial Hall Tuesday night.

Mrs. W. G. Thomas was elected first vice-president, succeeding Mrs. A. L. McKay, while Mrs. C. C. Bowen is the new second vice-president, an office held last year by Mrs. W. G. Thomas.

Mrs. W. T. Rice continues as secretary.

Treasurer this year will be Mrs. A. E. Goodwin, who takes over from Mrs. J. C. Macdonald, who did not stand for re-election.

The following were chosen for the executive: Mrs. M. A. Clark, Mrs. J. Malcolm, Mrs. W. Gordon, Mrs. J. D. Marshall, Mrs. P. Cowley and Mrs. L. Gabel.

IN CHARGE

The elections were conducted under the direction of Percy Gwynne, Maj. R. C. Arthur, M.C. and P. Cowley, Legion branch executive members, as provided under the auxiliary constitution. In reviewing the first year of activity for the auxiliary, Mrs. Paterson gave a report revealing steady progress. Membership is now over the 100 mark after starting with only 20, less than a year ago.

The auxiliary has participated in many varied activities, supplying soldiers in city hospitals with comforts and entertainment being one of the main features.

Staffing of the Legion Welcome Home Hut at the CPR station has been another function of importance carried out. This requires the voluntary services of 42 members working in shifts.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

What do you think of compulsory automobile insurance, such as is advocated by the United Farmers of Alberta?

THE ANSWERS

FRANCIS GOWER, salesman: The present objection to automobile insurance seems to lie in its expense. With compulsory insurance in force, rates should be lowered to the point where everybody who could afford to drive could afford to pay the premiums. The man who needs the insurance is the man who at present cannot pay premiums.

HUBERT ROBB, farmer: Compulsory insurance to my mind is a necessary thing, although I think it would be much more popular as "automatic insurance," with premiums payable when licenses were bought. The fact that many proposals along these lines have been advocated and studied by organizations and governments is proof enough that such a step is worthy of serious consideration.

ALBERT MCWEN, visitor: I think that compulsory insurance will come sooner or later, more as a protection to the public generally than a thing desired by motorists. Accidents are increasing all the time, and the point will be reached where public opinion will force the issue.

Farmers Urge Car Insurance Be Compulsory

The Alberta government will be asked to enact legislation compelling owners of motor vehicles to carry insurance on their cars and trucks, according to terms of a resolution passed at Tuesday afternoon sessions of the United Farmers of Alberta convention, held in the Macdonald hotel.

The resolution, introduced by Clairmont local of the UFA calls for "compulsory insurance on all cars and trucks in the province of Alberta," without specifying what types of insurance. Convention discussion, however, centred about public liability and personal property damage classifications. It was suggested by some speakers that fire and theft insurance could be left out of the scheme.

COULD LOWER RATES

"If all cars and trucks in the province carried insurance, rates could be reduced to put them within reach of everyone," one delegate observed. Another suggested the insurance be issued at the time licenses are taken out.

"This would be protection for every one of us," a convention member said in support of the plan. "It would be mighty good if we had a blanket insurance policy."

After explanation that the resolution was aimed at compulsory insurance in the public liability and personal property damage categories, and not necessarily fire and theft types, the motion was passed.

A second resolution adopted Tuesday afternoon will call on the government to enforce seeding of tame grasses in ditches and sides of newly-graded roads and highways. It was pointed out this policy would keep down the spread of noxious weeds.

A motion calling for institution of a system of compulsory hail insurance was lost after considerable debate at the Tuesday afternoon sitting of the convention. It would have levied deductions against all grains delivered to an elevator and stated the present hail insurance plan "is impractical as a safeguard against loss."

AMENDMENT LOST

An amendment, changing the original resolution to one calling for a crop insurance plan instead of a hail insurance plan, was lost.

After Robert Gardiner, UFA president, told delegates that the cost of hail insurance, as computed some years ago, would be at least $10,000,000 if it were to apply to the whole province, the resolution was put to a vote and lost. It was brought into the convention by Clairmont local of the organization.

Constitutional amendments approved at the afternoon meet included a plan to extend directors' terms of office to a three-year period. At present, directors are elected for one year.

It was decided to elect four directors for one year; five for two years, and five for three years. At subsequent conventions, at these terms of office expire, candidates will run for three-year terms. This will provide a continuing directorate, with some changes taking place each year.

A motion to set permanent membership in the UFA at $5 was passed, after an amendment raising the price to $10 was declared lost. The fee will be payable to central office of the organization and is to be separate from local dues. Permanent membership is now $1 a year. Those who took out such memberships in 1944 will be credited $3 towards the new plan, according to the new arrangement.

Wife Uses Chair To "Crown" Hubby

Informed that a man had assaulted his wife, city police went to a home in the northwest section of the city late Tuesday afternoon, where the woman complained of being scratched. The husband, in turn, complained of having "been crowned with a chair." The latter declared he would never return to his spouse, and left the premises, police said.

Convention Told UFA Co-Operatives' Sales Total $2,293,082 in Year

Total sales by United Farmers of Alberta co-operative outlets in the province for the year just ended totalled $2,293,082, it was reported Wednesday by N. F. Priestley, Calgary, manager of the UFA Central Co-Operative, to the UFA convention in the Macdonald hotel.

Operations of the co-operative association for the year ended Oct. 31, 1944, resulted in a surplus of $96,430, an increase of $21,000 over the 1943 surplus.

Distribution of gasoline and lubricating oils continued to be a major activity of the central co-op during the year, it was stated, the total turnover in 1944, exceeding 6,000,000 gallons of these commodities.

Maple Leaf Petroleum, distributing agency of gasoline and oils for the UFA, reported a total of 6,578,615 gallons of petroleum products distributed in 1944, compared to 5,192,082 gallons distributed in 1943. Delegates were informed the co-op agency stood in fifth place among active distributors in the province.

NEW STORES

Two new branch stores were opened by the co-operative association during the year, at Oyen and Big Valley. Sales at stores during the year were as follows: Medicine Hat, $144,234; Drumheller, $93,620; Chinook, $36,323; Oyen, $29,329 (8 months); and Big Valley, $5,882 (6 weeks).

The report showed livestock feeds on hand at 42 points not including branch stores during the year, and total value of feeds held by agents to be $45,535.

Delegates were advised that Alberta Co-operative Wholesale and the UFA Central Co-operative Association, affiliated in June of last year, "in the interests of Alberta co-operators."

STATEMENTS

Financial statements submitted by the co-operative association showed total assets of $387,804 listed in accounts. Total surplus at auditing was $186,494, a net surplus of $27,198 being added to date to a $159,408 surplus as at Nov. 1, 1943. Dividends provided for out of current operation gains amounted to $60,243.

"For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" rang out in the Macdonald hotel ballroom Wednesday noon as Robert Gardiner, Calgary, above, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, was named honorary president of the organization. missions amounting to $89,922 were received on petroleum products, binder twine, coal, fence posts and other commodities, after certain expenses had been deducted. Net gain on retail operations during the year was $33,315, while net gain on the operation of a service station at Calgary was $755.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Those Who Fight With Family Never Change

Marriage Works No Miracle on Girl Who Is Nervous, Irritable and Who Fights Incessantly With Brothers and Sisters

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to be married to a very beautiful and attractive girl, but she is always quarreling with her family. Do you think, if we marry, that she will treat me the way she does her father and mother and sisters and brothers?

WORRIED.

ANSWER: I do. The marriage ceremony works no miracle that changes a woman's character and disposition. It does not turn a nervous and irritable girl into a placid and easy-going wife. It puts no honey on a shrewish tongue. It makes no pacifist out of a born fighter. What a girl will be after marriage she will be afterwards, only more so, because after marriage she feels she can let herself go.

It is very hard for a young man really to get any line on a girl's temper and temperament before marriage. All girls put on their company manners as well as their company clothes when a youth comes a-courting. They all act meek and mild and are so soft-spoken that butter wouldn't melt in their mouths. They laugh at a man's jokes, listen with absorbed attention to his conversation and are so easy to get along with that it seems a simple trick to handle a woman.

Naturally a girl who is trying to win a man's attention is going to call a man's attention to her faults and weaknesses. She isn't going to tell him that the angelic disposition that he admires so much is camouflage. She isn't going to tell him of her own accord that she is selfish and lazy and extravagant. It is her place to conceal her faults. It is up to him to find them out if he can. And the only possible way in which he can do this is to get a close-up of her in the family circle.

The girl who cannot get along with her parents will not get along with her husband. If she "sasses" them, she will use her tongue as a two-edged sword upon her husband. If she is cross and irritable and makes scenes to get her own way in her father's house she will be worse in her husband's house.

Therefore, unless a man enjoys a fight for the fight's sake, he does well to avoid the girl who is always quarreling with her parents and brothers and sisters. And, unless he desires to be henpecked, he is wise if he side-steps the girl who is the family boss.

A good daughter makes a good wife. Marry the girl who is sweet and lovely in her own home and she will bless yours.

MAN'S WORLD

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I never met a woman who didn't wish that she was a man. I would like to know why they feel this way?

A MAN.

ANSWER: Well, virtually every woman wishes she was a man because this is a man's world and life is so much easier and pleasanter for men than it is for women. If a woman marries, she gets a worse deal than the man does, because she has to bear children and undergo the slavery of motherhood. If a woman goes into business, it is harder on her than it is on a man and she has far less chance of success than he has and is paid less for her work.

If a woman is talented and has spent years in perfecting herself in her particular line of work, she has to choose between it and love, but when a man marries, he merely adds a home and wife and children to his career. They are a help to him instead of a hindrance as they are to a woman.

Finally, the world judges a man lightly and a woman cruelly. A man may sow his wild oats and be forgiven, but a woman who makes even a step off of the straight and narrow path is black-listed by society.

It is because men get most of the perquisites in life that women wish they were men.

BOY SHOULD GO

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: When a boy calls on a girl and the time comes when the call should end, should the girl suggest to him that it is time for him to go, or should she depart of his own accord?

EDWARD G.

ANSWER: The boy should be a self-starter. No girl should be put to the embarrassment of having to order a boy out of her house, or even suggesting to him in the most delicate and tactful way that she is weary of his company and that he had better take the air. And when you start to go, don't linger. Go as if you were shot out of a gun.

FOOD FOR BOYS

Roger is about ten years old, a puny kid, though not too fat. He is as active, and as strong, as a boy of his age should be. When he calls in the morning to join his playmate Frank, about the same age and general build, to start off on their visit to the swimming pool, he usually contrives to arrive while Frank is at breakfast. Frank is a few months younger and a few pounds lighter than Roger, but while Frank puts away a whole of a meal Roger eats the food wistfully and makes a noble effort to decline with thanks invitations to have a waffle with butter and maple syrup on it, or some bacon and fried eggs. No signs the poor kid, I had breakfast just before I left home.

What did Roger have for breakfast?

Oh, a glass of orange juice. Yes, go on.

Guip, and a turning of the wistful gaze off toward the blue. That's all. You see, Roger's sister is an aspiring young movie actress and so she knows all about dieting to keep down weight. Roger must not get too fat—she wants him to be nice and slender like the children in the movies. So Roger's breakfast is restricted to a glass of orange juice. On that Rogers must get along, with his tearing around, swimming and other activities, until lunch time.

My, my, says Frank's mother, serving Frank his second waffle, you must get pretty hungry by noon. What will you have for lunch? Roger opens his lunch-box to show her—a whole orange about the size of a back yard lemon and two fine peaches! Now Frank's lunch box usually contains some sandwiches, cookies and some fresh fruit, and he buys a pint of milk to go with it if he is to be had where he is at noon.

It is said to be the fate of Roger if his morose sister persists in keeping the poor kid on the "Hollywood" diet.

Increased Bonus For Hogs Sought

SASKATOON, Jan. 17.—(CP)—The Saskatchewan Swine Breeders' Association, at its annual meeting here yesterday, requested the federal department of agriculture to increase the bonus on grades A and B hogs by $5 and $3 per head respectively. The resolution was carried after it was stated that the big raising industry was shipping, due to the price for hogs as compared to the price for grain.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Up to about 9 or 10 months of age the baby seems to thrive better and be more satisfied when there is some form of sugar in the formula. The reason for this is simple. Most formulas are composed of the milk of some lactating animal, and these milks are not as sweet as breast milk which is baby's natural food. So, to make the artificial formula as much as possible like breast milk, sugar is added.

It's surprising how quickly a lack of sugar or enough sugar shows itself up. One of the baby's reactions is to be hungry before the next meal is due. His mother may point out, with truth, that he is getting so much milk he doesn't see how he could drink another ounce. But he is still hunting for food and fussy. A scrutiny of the sugar content may show exactly what is wrong. No sugar, or not enough sugar. The addition will make the baby as sweet as the sugar being fed him.

Perhaps it is constipation that highlights the lack of sugar. Formulas without sufficient sugar are almost invariably constipating. As children are so different and their reactions so variable, one has to experiment a little by adding a bit of sugar until one reaches the point at which the baby has a daily movement which is not hard or dry.

There are all kinds of sugars, but those used most often in infant formulas are the malt sugars or the corn syrups. Neither of these is as sweet as cane sugar and they are used in different quantities, but both are excellent and agree well with the average baby.

The ordinary amount of sugar is about three tablespoons of corn syrup or six level tablespoons of malt sugar for the baby of 2 or 2½ months who weighs 10 pounds. Less would be used if he weighed less, and more—probably up to 4 tablespoons of corn syrup and 8 tablespoons of maltose—as the child increases in weight. It is usually unnecessary to use any more sugar than the above. Sometimes, if too much is used constipation is also a result.

So, as in all formulas, the standard may not be suitable for the individual baby, but it is plain that he will need something of the same amounts most babies can take and it can be shaved a little or

Debunker

The common idea that an ice age or glacial age is a terribly cold period is quite inaccurate, scientists tell us. They say that the "Great Ice Age" in America, for instance, was not cold at all and that if a person had wished to sit out in the open on one of the great glaciers he would have been quite comfortable, as all know who have visited the few remaining glaciers now in existence in various parts of the world. The glaciers themselves were not solid ice and snow, but made up also of great quantities of stone and earth pushed along together.

MATCHES HAVE CAUSED SERIOUS FIRES IN OVERSEAS MAIL . . .

NEVER PACK ANY INFLAMMABLE MATERIALS IN PARCELS . . .

MATCHES AND LIGHTER FLUID in overseas parcels have started serious fires. Think what this means. Thousands of bags containing letters and parcels lie deep down in a ship's hold, lurching in a rough sea.

If matches or lighter fluid take fire—AND THEY DO—that means that brave seamen must go into the smoke-filled hold and risk their lives. Thousands of parcels may be destroyed—thousands of men disappointed.

WON'T YOU HELP?

We know that you would not knowingly endanger lives and mail. So think—and then don't put matches or lighter fluid in Overseas Mail.

UFWA Shows Progressive Interest In Education Matters in Alberta

MRS. W. C. TAYLOR of Edmonton, education convener for the United Farm Women of Alberta, presenting her report at the Tuesday afternoon session of the 24th annual convention of the organization, said that there have been numerous talks given at the meetings throughout the province. These talks included such topics as Composite High Schools, co-operation, post-war rehabilitation, and child psychology.

The convention, which is being held at the Macdonald hotel, opened Monday and will close Friday.

Mrs. Taylor said there is a growing interest in the topics under study and there is an increase in talks, demonstrations and papers given at the various locals by some of the members. Of particular interest was the round table discussion on education, social diseases, peace problems, rural electrification and the health of the people. Members gave book reviews and individual locals as well as constituency conferences report government speakers on subjects ranging from poultry to high school problems.

She said many locals report listening groups in the Radio Farm Forum, and another reports an active library containing 1,200 books. A large proportion of the locals have joined the Society for the Control of Cancer, and several report the use of moving pictures as an educational medium. Introduction of attitude tests in the schools was a project of the UFWA.

NEW METHODS

Why can't we have new educational methods in Alberta? During this war we have all seen how military camps can be built almost overnight, how money can be raised as if by magic, all for the sake of destroying men and materials. How about putting a little of this ingenuity and energy into erecting schools to train our sons and daughters in the larger way of life, so that they will be able to give to their country and to the world a fuller measure of co-operative citizenship, the speaker said.

The report of the executive and the board of the UFWA was presented by Mrs. M. E. Low of Nainoa. She said the amount of $100,000 was raised for the Prisoners of War fund, the special project of the organization. The Calgary War Savings Stamp Booth was manned once every three months by members of the Calgary local and the Central office staff. Assistance was given to the victims of the flood in the Pembina area.

All districts reported that locals are all active, particularly in the war effort.

A mimeographed paper UFWA "Hi-Lights" put out by the organization, is proving effective in keeping the locals in touch with each other's activities. Broadcast series "Chats to Farm People" were carried on until the end of June over station CKUA.

RESOLUTIONS

A number of resolutions were passed. For the first resolution, the women decided to request the Provincial Department of Education to investigate aptitude tests in schools and if they were found suitable to have them made immediately available for all pupils before grade nine. Secondly, the members were resolved to ask the Minister of Education to have vocational schools in all rural centres where high schools are located, and later have these vocational schools located in public schools.

Thirdly, it was resolved to urge the Department of Education to give rural school districts financial assistance in procuring suitable moving picture machines and equipment.

Mrs. Ray Carter, Ponoka, director, for Westaskin, was presented with a corsage of roses at the Tuesday afternoon session. Mrs. Carter compiled the history of the UFA and it has been written in booklet form. The Wednesday morning session opened with community singing and morning thoughts by D. E. Cameron.

SPEAKER

Dean R. A. Sinclair of the University of Alberta, addressed the meeting on post-war reconstruction and the part agriculture can play in that work. Two points of view, he said, to be considered were, first, that agriculture in Alberta is of great benefit to reconstruction in the provincial life because of the fact that 60 per cent to 70 per cent of the population comes from agriculture. If we are going to carry out any extension program of reconstruction it depends on economic status of the agricultural industry.

From a broader point of view of reconstruction he said, agriculture is vitally interested in any movement having to do with improving the nutritional status of the people all over the world—agriculture is food to people of the world and more food and better food means better health. Another point is that agriculture may contribute to the peace by lending its support to any movement designed to bring about better distribution of food.

Points for Parents

By EDITH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "A man's coming to fix the gas stove today so I can't take you to see the fire engines until some other day. How would you like to make a snow man in the back yard?" I'll help you.

Mother: "Now don't cry about what I'm going to tell you. I'm terribly sorry—I can't almost cry, too—but I can't possibly keep my promise to take you to see the fire engines today."

Parents suggest the way they expect children to react to a change of plan, and children seldom disappoint them.
